C# .Net Programming Assignment 17

1. Accept directory name and file name from user and create that directory and inside that directory create new file.

Example : If Directory name entered by user is Marvellous and file is Demo.txt. Then create Directory Named as Marvellous in C drive and inside that directory create file as Demo.txt.

2. Accept directory name from user and display all file names from that directory.

3. Accept directory name from user and display name of such a regular file which is largest in size.

4. Accept directory name from user and display all details of that directory as creation time, last access time, last write time, root of directory.